ANNUAL INDEX TO VOLUME 34

January through December 1998

SUBJECTS

ACUTE CARE

—Abdominal aortic aneurysm, diagnosing, an update, February, p 42

—Acute bronchitis in adults, a modern approach to management, August, p 15

—Acute stroke, aggressive approach to intervention and prevention, January, p 11

—Acute ureteral stones, clues to the diagnosis and initial treatment, May, p 47

—Acutely hospitalized older patients, what can you do to shorten their stay?, July, p 13

—Hypoxemia, recognizing the signs of, July, p 46

—Puncture wounds of the foot, March, p 8

—Trauma emergencies in ophthalmology, August, p 41

ALLERGY/IMMUNOLOGY

—Air pollution and the upper airway, recognizing irritant-related symptoms, February, p 9

BEHAVIOR MODIFICATION

—Obesity, revisiting, current treatment strategies, November, p 41

—Smoking cessation, pharmacologic and behavioral approaches to, October, p 47

CANCER

—Malignant mesothelioma, November, p 54

—Pain management in the terminally ill patient, a compassionate approach, May, p 11

CARDIOVASCULAR DISORDERS

—Abdominal aortic aneurysm, diagnosing, an update, February, p 42

—Acute stroke, aggressive approach to intervention and prevention, January, p 11

—Hypertension, role of low-dose combination therapy in the management of, an alternative approach, October, p 35

—Stroke prevention, office screening for surgical interventions in carotid artery disease, February, p 22

—Vasculitis: principles of diagnosis and treatment, November, p 17

CHRONIC DISEASES

—COPD, recent developments in the management of, January, p 29

—Diabetic foot, the, evaluation and patient education, December, p 17

—Diabetic retinopathy: an update, June, p 51

—Hirsutism, managing the patient with, September, p 45

—Hypertension, role of low-dose combination therapy in the management of, an alternative approach, October, p 35

—Migraine prevention need no longer be a headache, October, p 13

—Obesity, revisiting, current treatment strategies, November, p 41

—Osteoporosis, a practical approach to managing, June, p 15

—Osteoporosis, unmasking the silent epidemic, May, p 25

—Rheumatoid arthritis, current strategies, August, p 29

DERMATOLOGIC DISORDERS

—Hirsutism, managing the patient with, September, p 45

—Onychomycosis, advances in the diagnosis and treatment of, April, p 11

—Puncture wounds of the foot, March, p 8

—Skin signs of systemic disease, November, p 27

DIAGNOSIS

—Abdominal aortic aneurysm, diagnosing, an update, February, p 42

—Acute stroke, aggressive approach to intervention and prevention, January, p 11

—Acute ureteral stones, clues to the diagnosis and initial treatment, May, p 47

—Air pollution and the upper airway, recognizing irritant-related symptoms, February, p 9

—Diabetic foot, the, evaluation and patient education, December, p 17

—Diarrhea in adults, diagnosing, a practical approach, April, p 27

—Dizziness, a diagnostic puzzle, January, p 39

—Hypoxemia, recognizing the signs of, July, p 46

—Obstructive sleep apnea, diagnosis and treatment, March, p 33

—Onychomycosis, advances in the diagnosis and treatment of, April, p 11

—Osteoporosis, unmasking the silent epidemic, May, p 25

—Red eye, what's causing that? clues to the underlying cause, December, p 30

—Skin signs of systemic disease, November, p 27

—Stroke prevention, office screening for surgical interventions in carotid artery disease, February, p 22

—Trauma emergencies in ophthalmology, August, p 41

—Vasculitis: principles of diagnosis and treatment, November, p 17

END-OF-LIFE CARE

—Advance directives, physicians' rights and responsibilities, March, p 21

—Pain management in the terminally ill patient, a compassionate approach, May, p 11

—Physician-assisted suicide, legal considerations, April, p 45

—Psychological considerations in terminal care, June, p 30

ENDOCRINE/METABOLIC DISORDERS

—Diabetic foot, the, evaluation and patient education, December, p 17

—Diabetic retinopathy: an update, June, p 51

—Hirsutism, managing the patient with, September, p 45

—Obesity, revisiting, current treatment strategies, November, p 41

GASTROINTESTINAL DISORDERS

—Diarrhea in adults, diagnosing, a practical approach, April, p 27

—Using nonsteroidal antiinflammatory drugs safely: practical considerations, September, p 33

GERIATRIC MEDICINE

—Acutely hospitalized older patients, what can you do to shorten their stay?, July, p 13

ANNUAL INDEX TO VOLUME 34

January through December 1998

SUBJECTS

ACUTE CARE

—Abdominal aortic aneurysm, diagnosing, an update, February, p 42

—Acute bronchitis in adults, a modern approach to management, August, p 15

—Acute stroke, aggressive approach to intervention and prevention, January, p 11

—Acute ureteral stones, clues to the diagnosis and initial treatment, May, p 47

—Acutely hospitalized older patients, what can you do to shorten their stay?, July, p 13

—Hypoxemia, recognizing the signs of, July, p 46

—Puncture wounds of the foot, March, p 8

—Trauma emergencies in ophthalmology, August, p 41

ALLERGY/IMMUNOLOGY

—Air pollution and the upper airway, recognizing irritant-related symptoms, February, p 9

BEHAVIOR MODIFICATION

—Obesity, revisiting, current treatment strategies, November, p 41

—Smoking cessation, pharmacologic and behavioral approaches to, October, p 47

CANCER

—Malignant mesothelioma, November, p 54

—Pain management in the terminally ill patient, a compassionate approach, May, p 11

CARDIOVASCULAR DISORDERS

—Abdominal aortic aneurysm, diagnosing, an update, February, p 42

—Acute stroke, aggressive approach to intervention and prevention, January, p 11

—Hypertension, role of low-dose combination therapy in the management of, an alternative approach, October, p 35

—Stroke prevention, office screening for surgical interventions in carotid artery disease, February, p 22

—Vasculitis: principles of diagnosis and treatment, November, p 17

CHRONIC DISEASES

—COPD, recent developments in the management of, January, p 29

—Diabetic foot, the, evaluation and patient education, December, p 17

—Diabetic retinopathy: an update, June, p 51

—Hirsutism, managing the patient with, September, p 45

—Hypertension, role of low-dose combination therapy in the management of, an alternative approach, October, p 35

—Migraine prevention need no longer be a headache, October, p 13

—Obesity, revisiting, current treatment strategies, November, p 41

—Osteoporosis, a practical approach to managing, June, p 15

—Osteoporosis, unmasking the silent epidemic, May, p 25

—Rheumatoid arthritis, current strategies, August, p 29

DERMATOLOGIC DISORDERS

—Hirsutism, managing the patient with, September, p 45

—Onychomycosis, advances in the diagnosis and treatment of, April, p 11

—Puncture wounds of the foot, March, p 8

—Skin signs of systemic disease, November, p 27

DIAGNOSIS

—Abdominal aortic aneurysm, diagnosing, an update, February, p 42

—Acute stroke, aggressive approach to intervention and prevention, January, p 11

—Acute ureteral stones, clues to the diagnosis and initial treatment, May, p 47

—Air pollution and the upper airway, recognizing irritant-related symptoms, February, p 9

—Diabetic foot, the, evaluation and patient education, December, p 17

—Diarrhea in adults, diagnosing, a practical approach, April, p 27

—Dizziness, a diagnostic puzzle, January, p 39

—Hypoxemia, recognizing the signs of, July, p 46

—Obstructive sleep apnea, diagnosis and treatment, March, p 33

—Onychomycosis, advances in the diagnosis and treatment of, April, p 11

—Osteoporosis, unmasking the silent epidemic, May, p 25

—Red eye, what's causing that? clues to the underlying cause, December, p 30

—Skin signs of systemic disease, November, p 27

—Stroke prevention, office screening for surgical interventions in carotid artery disease, February, p 22

—Trauma emergencies in ophthalmology, August, p 41

—Vasculitis: principles of diagnosis and treatment, November, p 17

END-OF-LIFE CARE

—Advance directives, physicians' rights and responsibilities, March, p 21

—Pain management in the terminally ill patient, a compassionate approach, May, p 11

—Physician-assisted suicide, legal considerations, April, p 45

—Psychological considerations in terminal care, June, p 30

ENDOCRINE/METABOLIC DISORDERS

—Diabetic foot, the, evaluation and patient education, December, p 17

—Diabetic retinopathy: an update, June, p 51

—Hirsutism, managing the patient with, September, p 45

—Obesity, revisiting, current treatment strategies, November, p 41

GASTROINTESTINAL DISORDERS

—Diarrhea in adults, diagnosing, a practical approach, April, p 27

—Using nonsteroidal antiinflammatory drugs safely: practical considerations, September, p 33

GERIATRIC MEDICINE

—Acutely hospitalized older patients, what can you do to shorten their stay?, July, p 13

— Antibiotic misuse in older patients, preventing, December, p 39
— Osteoporosis, a practical approach to managing, June, p 15
— Osteoporosis, unmasking the silent epidemic, May, p 25

INFECTIOUS/PARASITIC DISEASE

— Acute bronchitis in adults, a modern approach to management, August, p 15
— Community-acquired pneumonia, September, p 13
— Diarrhea in adults, diagnosing, a practical approach, April, p 27
— Lyme disease, an update, July, p 26
— Onychomycosis, advances in the diagnosis and treatment of, April, p 11

MUSCULOSKELETAL/CONNECTIVE TISSUE DISORDERS

— Osteoporosis, a practical approach to managing, June, p 15
— Osteoporosis, unmasking the silent epidemic, May, p 25
— Rheumatoid arthritis, current strategies, August, p 29
— Skin signs of systemic disease, November, p 27
— Using nonsteroidal antiinflammatory drugs safely: practical considerations, September, p 33
— Vasculitis: principles of diagnosis and treatment, November, p 17

NEUROLOGIC DISORDERS

— Acute stroke, aggressive approach to intervention and prevention, January, p 11
— Dizziness, a diagnostic puzzle, January, p 39
— Migraine prevention need no longer be a headache, October, p 13
— Stroke prevention, office screening for surgical interventions in carotid artery disease, February, p 22

NUTRITION IN PRIMARY CARE

— Cardiovascular disease, medical nutritional interventions in, May, p 45
— Diabetic patient, managing the, what's in? what's out?, June, p 42
— Disease prevention, phytochemicals the newest frontier in, August, p 55
— Female patients, are you addressing the special nutritional needs of your?, September, p 56
— Hypertension, simple yet essential nutritional strategies to control, October, p 63
— Practice of medicine, the role of nutrition in the, April, p 64

OPHTHALMOLOGIC DISORDERS

— Diabetic retinopathy, an update, June, p 51
— Red eye, what's causing that? clues to the underlying cause, December, p 30
— Trauma emergencies in ophthalmology, August, p 41

OUTPATIENT PROCEDURE

— Heel spur syndrome, identifying and treating, June, p 44
— Ingrown toenail, the, July, p 36
— Is this "just" a sprained ankle?, December, p 46
— Palpable breast mass, fine-needle aspiration of, April, p 59
— Palpable breast mass, the physical examination, March, p 42
— Plantar warts, excochleation technique, September, p 52
— Spirometric testing of pulmonary function, November, p 50
— Synovial fluid, office analysis of, February, p 38

PAIN MANAGEMENT

— Pain management in the terminally ill patient, a compassionate approach to, May, p 11
— Using nonsteroidal antiinflammatory drugs safely: practical considerations, September, p 33

PHARMACOTHERAPY

— Antibiotic misuse in older patients, preventing, December, p 39
— Hypertension, low-dose combination therapy in the management of, an alternative approach, October, p 35
— Migraine prevention need no longer be a headache, October, p 13
— Obesity, revisiting, current treatment strategies, November, p 41
— Osteoporosis, a practical approach to managing, June, p 15
— Pain management in the terminally ill patient, a compassionate approach to, May, p 11
— Pharmacologic and behavioral approaches to smoking cessation, October, p 47
— Using nonsteroidal antiinflammatory drugs safely: practical considerations, September, p 33

PODIATRIC DISORDERS

— Diabetic foot, the, evaluation and patient education, December, p 17
— Onychomycosis, advances in the diagnosis and treatment of, April, p 11
— Puncture wounds of the foot, March, p 8

PREVENTIVE MEDICINE

— Acute stroke, aggressive approach to intervention and prevention, January, p 11
— Migraine prevention need no longer be a headache, October, p 13
— Stroke prevention, office screening for surgical interventions in carotid artery disease, February, p 22

RESPIRATORY DISORDERS

— Acute bronchitis in adults, a modern approach to management, August, p 15
— Air pollution and the upper airway, recognizing irritant-related symptoms, February, p 9
— Community-acquired pneumonia, September, p 13
— COPD, recent developments in the management of, January, p 29
— Obstructive sleep apnea, diagnosis and treatment, March, p 33

SLEEP DISORDERS

— Obstructive sleep apnea, diagnosis and treatment, March, p 33

UPDATE ON DRUG THERAPIES

— Chronic hepatitis C virus infection, new combination therapy for, September, p 31
— Controlling hypertension with the angiotensin II receptor antagonists, December, p 28
— Drug interactions, clinically significant, July, p 44
— Lipid formulations of amphotericin B in the management of fungal infections, November, p 38
— Managing obesity, new drugs for, April, p 37
— New fluoroquinolones, the, March, p 16

UROLOGIC DISORDERS

— Acute ureteral stones, clues to the diagnosis and initial treatment, May, p 47

AUTHORS

Agcaoili, Demetrio J. See Cefalu, Charles A.

Beaver, Hilary A. Trauma emergencies in ophthalmology, August, p 41. See also Lee, Andrew G.

Bowen, James. Dizziness: a diagnostic puzzle, January, p 39

Braverman, Irwin M. Skin signs of systemic disease, November, p 27

Buddecke, Donald E. See Mandracchia, Vincent J.

Campbell, Stephen M. Rheumatoid arthritis: current strategies, August, p 29

Cefalu, Charles A. Acutely hospitalized older patients: what can you do to shorten their stay?, July, p 13; Preventing antibiotic misuse in older patients, December p 39

Coppa, Lisa Marie. See Scher, Richard K.

Criner, Gerard J. See Travaline, John M.

Doyle, D. John. Recognizing the signs of hypoxemia, July, p 46

Ferro, Thomas J. See Hafner, Jean-Paul

Gamel, John W. Diabetic retinopathy: an update, June, p 51

Hafner, Jean-Paul. Recent developments in the management of COPD, January, p 29; Acute bronchitis in adults: a modern approach to management, August, p 15

Haverstock, Brent D. See Mandracchia, Vincent J.

Hellmann, David B. See Stone, John H.

Hindle, William H. Palpable breast mass: physical examination, March, p 42; Fine-needle aspiration of a palpable breast mass, April, p 59

Kaye, Lily. Pharmacologic and behavioral approaches to smoking cessation, October, p 47

Khawaja, Imran T. Obstructive sleep apnea: diagnosis and treatment, March, p 33

Krevsky, Benjamin. See McCray, William H.

Kushner, Pamela R. Osteoporosis: unmasking the silent epidemic, May, p 25; A practical approach to managing osteoporosis, June, p 15

Lee, Andrew G.: Red eye: differential diagnosis and management of, December, p 30. See also Beaver, Hilary A.

Lema, Mark J. A compassionate approach to pain management in the terminally ill patient, May, p 11

Mady, Brian. See Schaefer, Oren P.

Mandracchia, Vincent J. Puncture wounds of the foot, March, p 8; The ingrown toenail, July, p 36; The diabetic foot: evaluation and patient education, December, p 17; Is this just a sprained ankle?, December, p 46. See also Yoho, Robert M.

McCray, William H. Diagnosing diarrhea in adults: a practical approach, April, p 27

Mercurio, Mary Gail. Managing the patient with hirsutism, September, p 45

Molnar, Robert G. See Snyder, Stanley O.

Neutel, Joel M. The role of low-dose combination therapy in the management of hypertension, an alternative approach, October, p 35

Pendarvis, Julie A. See Mandracchia, Vincent J.

Permut, Stephen R: Advance directives: physicians' rights and responsibilities, March, p 21; Physician-assisted suicide: legal considerations, April, p 45

Phillips, Andrée C. Using nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs safely: practical considerations, September, p 33

Phillips, Barbara A. See Khawaja, Imran T.

Rothschild, Steven K. Psychological considerations in terminal care, June, p 30

Saltzman, Edward. See Shikora, Scott A.

Schaefer, Oren P. Community-acquired pneumonia, September, p 13

Scher, Richard K. Advances in the diagnosis and treatment of onychomycosis, April, p 11

Schlesinger, Peter A. Lyme disease: an update, July, p 26

Schneck, Michael J. Acute stroke: an aggressive approach to intervention and prevention, January, p 11; Stroke prevention: office screening for surgical interventions in carotid artery disease, February, p 22

Schumacher, H. Ralph, Jr. Office analysis of synovial fluid, February, p 38

Segura, Joseph W. See Wehle, Michael J.

Shikora, Scott A. Revisiting obesity: current treatment strategies, November, p 41

Shusterman, Dennis. Air pollution and the upper airway: recognizing irritant-related symptoms, February, p 9

Simon, Lee S. See Phillips, Andrée C.

Smith, David H.G. The role of low-dose combination therapy in the management of hypertension, an alternative approach, October, p 35

Smith, Thomas B. Migraine prevention need no longer be a headache, October, p 13

Snyder, Stanley O. Diagnosing abdominal aortic aneurysm: an update, February, p 42

Stone, John H. Vasculitis: principles of diagnosis and treatment, November, p 17

Tan, Winston. Malignant mesothelioma, November, p 54

Travaline, John M. Spirometric testing of pulmonary function, November, p 50

Wehle, Michael J. Acute ureteral stones: clues to the diagnosis and initial treatment, May, p 47

Yoho, Robert M. Identifying and treating heel spur syndrome, June, p 44; Plantar warts: excochleation technique, September, p 52. See also Mandracchia, Vincent J.